Childcare Philosophy

"The outdoors is an extension of our learning space - a place to discover, imagine and connect with nature. I value outdoor experiences as vital to children's physical, emotional and cognitive development. I provide daily opportunities for tamariki to explore and learn through nature-based play. Most importantly, I aim to create an environment where children feel safe, supported and challenged. I provide ample opportunities for them to develop strategies for problem-solving, navigate social situations, and build resilience - skills that will serve them well for life. Every child is unique, and my role is to guide, observe and support them as they grow into confident and capable learners".

Community Involvement

Getting out and about in the local community and being involved in preschool groups is important to Claudia and her teaching philosophy. Their small group of tamariki attend weekly playgroups and gym sessions. Frequent trips out to explore parks, libraries and walks are enjoyed by everyone as they provide wonderful learning opportunities and enhance social competency.
